

Date: 11.5.2019

Publication: The Times of India

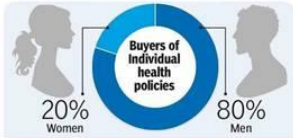

Page no: 15/17/23

Edition: Ahmedabad | Bangalore | Hyderabad |
Kolkata | Mumbai | New Delhi

WOMEN LARGELY UNPROTECTED!

In India less than a quarter of urban, working women buy health insurance policies for themselves

In India, the age group of women who face the highest average claim size is 55 and above — but this group also has the lowest number of policyholders, showing that the most vulnerable stakeholders are the least insured

As high as 60% of the policy holders fall under the age group of 26-45 years, and can be vulnerable to critical illnesses such as breast cancer, cervical cancer, vaginal cancer, etc. Of total women policy holders, as high as 75% avail of the maternity benefit

Source: Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Co